KLM Royal Dutch Airlines Announces 2023 Summer Schedule for the Greater China Market

KLM recently announced the 2023 summer schedule for the Greater China market, in response to the market demand. In the current capacity ramp-up phase, KLM will operate a total of 19 passenger flights from 4 destinations in its Greater China market, namely Beijing (Daily Flight), Shanghai (Daily flight), Hong Kong (3 weekly flights) and Taipei (2 weekly flights).

In the meantime, KLM remains in close contact with the relevant authorities and continues to study opportunities to resume flights to its other Chinese gateways, when the market conditions allow.

"We are delighted to announce the resumption and increase of flights to 4 of our Greater China destinations for the 2023 summer season. We look forward to the recovery of international aviation in the summer of 2023, as the continued resurgence of global travel in a post-pandemic world encourages more Chinese customers to return to the skies and travel, whether for business or leisure. We can't wait to welcome them back on board our flights and offer them our best products and warmest services." said Wouter Vermeulen, General Manager, Air France KLM, Greater China.

About KLM

For over a century, KLM has been a pioneer in the airline industry. KLM is the oldest airline still operating under its original name and aims to be the leading European network carrier in customer centricity, efficiency and sustainability. The KLM network connects the Netherlands with all of the world's key economic regions and is a powerful engine driving the Dutch economy.

KLM Royal Dutch Airlines is part of the Air France–KLM Group. KLM is also a member of the global SkyTeam Alliance, which has 19 member airlines.

Since the merger in 2004, KLM has been part of the Air France–KLM Group. This merger gave rise to one of Europe's leading airline groups, with two strong brands operating out of two major hubs: Amsterdam Airport Schiphol and Paris Charles de Gaulle. The group focuses on three key activities: passenger and cargo transport, and aircraft maintenance.
